Global Food Solutions Participates in the 47th Annual Legislative Action Conference in Washington, D.C.

Hauppauge, NY. - March 4th, 2019 – Global Food Solutions announces their appearance at the 47th annual legislative action conference in Washington, D.C.

Continuing our support & commitment to the K-12 segment, schools, and their students, Thomas Kurza (Director of K-12 Sales East) attended the annual Legislative Action Conference for School Nutrition. Thomas teamed up with 14 other individuals currently in positions that include food management companies, food manufacturers, and school districts from across the state of New Jersey to advocate for national policy efforts supporting school nutrition programs. Thomas met with staff from Donald Payne Jr. NJ's 10th Congressional District, Bonnie Watson Coleman, NJ's 12th Congressional District & Bill Pascrell NJ's 9th Congressional district advocating for continued support & funding for the USDA breakfast program, simplification of administrative processes like USDA reviews, & creating a benchmark for proper time allotted & required for students to eat lunch.

In addition to a visit on the hill, the 4-day conference included General Sessions with Renowned Presidential Historian & Pulitzer Prize winner Doris Kearns Goodwin, former Senators Tom Daschle (D-SD) and Trent Lott (R-MS), and a surprise visit from United States Secretary of Agriculture, Sonny Perdue.

"It was an honor to be asked to join for this conference & a great experience," said Thomas "Not only was the conference informative, but it too gave me the opportunity to speak with districts from across the country. This was of course all an added bonus, while the real focus was making sure that we had a successful & impactful meetings with our legislators to lend a voice to the rest of our peers (School Districts) & the students in schools across the country."
